

35th HSAS Annual Convention

Travelodge Hotel
Regina, SK

Saturday, November 17, 2007

Following an early morning breakfast, HSAS President Chris Driol welcomed all delegates to the Convention.

He then presented a short orientation for the new delegates.

Returning delegates attended a information program entitled "Ethics and the Everyday" which was presented by Scott Erwin.

Garnet Dishaw, a new Labour Relations Officer in the HSAS Regina office, addressed the delegates. He spoke about trade unionism. He presented some examples of what life was like for workers in England, before the advent of unions.

Following lunch, Kerrie Strathy addressed the delegates. Kerrie is the Division Head for the University of Regina's Seniors' Education Centre. Kerrie spoke about some of the challenges faced by our aging population and their care givers.

Jayne Clendening led a Laughter Yoga Class. Jayne is an internationally certified Laughter Yoga Coach. She is committed to pursuing wellness through laughter and play.

Chris Driol then brought the meeting to order and the business portion of the convention commenced. Reports from each of the committees and the President's Annual Report were circulated.

A social to welcome the new delegates was held following the business meeting.
